Everyone has ideas but if they paid attention to the multiple briefings that have been provided to council and the media, they would know that the Chief and I and City Solicitor have addressed this "idea". We have initiated the process last weekend to go get an injunction. The problem is that once we get it, we have to action it. Which means that police have to be prepared to initiate a tactical response to remove the trucks and protesters. We are working with police to gather the evidence require to successfully get an injunction and for police to tell us how an injunction would be enforced. This is actively being worked on.
